any natives who may enter into an engagement with him before registration, it shall be the duty of the registering officer, prior to registration, to satisfy himself that the garden-sirdar has carried out such instructions of his employer. Such examination shall be made, if the employer or his local agent, or garden-sirdar so desire, by any medical officer in the service of Government, on payment of a fee not exceeding eight annas for each native examined, but may be made by any other duly qualified medical man on such terms as the employer may arrange. Such medical examiner shall, if so required, satisfy himself that the native is in a fit state of health to journey to, and undertake agricultural labour in the labour districts, and shall in all cases grant the garden-sirdar an acknowledgment of the fee paid to him on account of each such native examined.

26. If the registering officer finds that such native does not understand the nature of the engagement, or has been induced to enter into the engagement by fraud or misrepresentation, or is for any reasonable cause unwilling to fulfil the same, or if the garden-sirdar shall not have produced his certificate, he shall refuse to register such native: and if the district in which such native is produced before him is not the district where such native was engaged, may cause him and his dependents to be returned to such district at the cost of the employer of such garden-sirdar.

27. For the registration of every native of India produced before the registering officer for the purpose of being registered as a labourer, the garden-sirdar shall pay to the registering officer a fee not exceeding one rupee.

28. When such registration has been made, such native shall execute a contract under this Act with the employer with whom he intends to contract. Such contract shall, in the presence of the registering officer, be signed in duplicate both by such native and on behalf of the employer by the garden-sirdar or by the local agent of such employer. The contract may be written or printed, or partly written or partly printed, and shall be on substantial paper. Before such native signs the contract, the registering officer shall satisfy himself that its terms are in accordance with any instructions given by the employer in the certificate of the garden-sirdar by whom such native is brought before him, and shall then personally explain the contract to such native and shall attest it and certify at the foot thereof that he has so personally explained the same.

29. Any native of India who without reason-officer, if himself a medical man, to examine, and if not himself a medical man to send for examination by such, any native of India brought before him for registration by any garden-sirdar, or any dependent of such native, who may appear to him to be unfit to travel or to be affected with any disease dangerous to others; and if upon examination such native or dependent be pronounced to be unfit to travel, or so diseased as to be dangerous to others, the registering officer may decline to register such native or to allow such dependent to proceed: and if the registering station be not in the district within which the engagement with such native was made, the registering officer may order that the cost of the detention of such native or dependent in hospital and of returning him to his home shall be borne by the employer of the garden-sirdar presenting such native for registration. No fee shall be charged in respect of the medical examination under this section.

intending emigrants at any central spot in any district before despatching them to a labour district, shall notify to the Magistrate of the district or sub-division wherein such accommodation is provided the position and nature of such accommodation. It shall be lawful for such Magistrate from time to time to inspect such accommodation or to cause it to be inspected, in order that he may be satisfied that such proper sanitary arrangements have been made therein as would be required by any law in force for the regulation of municipalities in his district, but he shall not otherwise interfere.

It shall be lawful, notwithstanding, for such Magistrate to order the release of any person detained by a garden-sirdar who can show good cause for the same, or who is deemed by a medical officer to be unfit to travel, or so diseased as to be dangerous to others.

34. A garden-sirdar shall either himself accompany emigrants engaged by him throughout their journey from the place in which the engagement was made to the place where they are to be employed, or shall send with them some competent deputy sirdar to be approved by the local agent of his employer, or if his employer has no local agent, by the registering officer by whom such emigrants were registered.

35. It shall be lawful for a garden-sirdar, subject to the conditions of his certificate, to engage any number of labourers: provided that there shall be at least one garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar in charge of every gang of twenty labourers (exclusive of the dependents of such labourers) despatched to the labour districts. Subject to this proviso, there shall be no restriction on the number of gangs of labourers travelling together to the labour districts.

36. With the written consent of the local agent (if any) of his employer, but not otherwise, it shall be lawful for any garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar, subject to the provisions of the last preceding section, to travel to the labour districts in charge of the labourers of employers other than his own.

37. If any garden-sirdar without sufficient cause fail to report himself to the local agent (if any) of his employer within fourteen days after his arrival in the district in which he is authorized to engage labourers, if he is so directed by the terms of his certificate; or if he neglect to bring any native of India engaged by him before a registering officer to be put on contract as above provided according to the terms of his certificate; or if without sufficient cause he fail to return to his employer within the time specified in his certificate;

or if he fail to account for the moneys advanced to him by his employer for the purpose of engaging labourers;

or if he wilfully abandon any labour or dependent on the way to the labour districts;

such garden-sirdar shall, on conviction before any Magistrate of any district wherein he may be found, be liable to be punished with rigorous imprisonment, which may amount to one month.

Nothing in this section shall interfere with any penalty prescribed for any offence under the Indian Penal Code, provided that no garden-sirdar shall be twice punished for the same offence.

38. If any garden-sirdar make over any natives of India engaged by him to any contractor or the agent of any contractor, or to the garden-sirdar or local agent of any employer other than his own; or if he allow any such natives recruited by contractors or their sub-contractors or recruiters to share the accommodation provided by him under section 33, or if he place any such native engaged by him for his employer in any contractor's depôt; such garden-sirdar shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, and on the complaint of his employer or of the local agent of such employer, be liable to have his certificate cancelled and to fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

39. Every garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar proceeding to the labour districts in charge of a gang of labourers shall present to the registering officer of the station at which he puts them on contract a way-bill, in a form to be prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, setting forth particulars of all such labourers and their dependents, and he shall be bound to present such way-bill at all such places and to all such officers and other persons as may be thereupon indicated, and to carry out all instructions endorsed thereupon for his guidance. Failure to comply with any such instruction shall make him liable, on conviction by a Magistrate, to fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

40. Every garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar by whom any labourer is accompanied shall provide such labourer and his dependents with proper and sufficient food and lodging throughout such journey. If it shall appear to any Magistrate, on the complaint of any such labourer at any place on the journey, that he or any of his dependents has suffered any ill-treatment during the journey, or that the garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar has failed to provide him and them with proper and sufficient food and lodging, or if such garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar wilfully abandon any labourer or any of his dependents on the way to a labour district, such Magistrate may order the garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar to pay to such labourer a sum of money by way of compensation, or may cancel the contract and order the garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar to pay to such labourer a sum of money sufficient to enable him with his dependents to return to the place at which he was engaged.

41. If any garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar, who may be ordered under the provisions of the last preceding section to pay any sum of money, shall for twenty-four hours omit to comply with such order, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate to advance the amount so ordered, to be paid to the labourer named in such order, and to recover from the employer of such garden-sirdar, or from the local agent of such employer, the sum so advanced with interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the date of such advance.

Garden-sirdar must provide food and lodging for labourer and dependent on journey.

If such not provided, or if labourer unfit, magistrate may award compensation or cancel contract.

Recovery of fines ordered to be paid by Magistrate.

42. Any Magistrate and any Embarkation Agent or inspecting officer may, if himself a medical man, examine, and, if not himself a medical man, send for examination by such, any labourer or dependent who may appear to him unfit to travel, or so diseased as to be dangerous to others; and if such labourer or dependent be on examination pronounced to be unfit to travel, or so diseased as to be dangerous to others, he may be detained in hospital until his recovery, after which he shall be forwarded to the labour district, or returned to his home, as the garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar in whose charge he was or the employer or local agent of such garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar may request. All costs of such detention and of forwarding or returning such labourer or dependent after recovery shall, if not deposited by the garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar in charge, be advanced by the officer ordering detention, and shall be recoverable from the employer of such garden-sirdar or deputy sirdar with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date of such advance.

43. Whenever a labourer or dependent is detained or is forwarded or returned under the provisions of section 42, it shall be optional with the wife or husband of such emigrant or dependent, as the case may be, to remain with and accompany such emigrant or dependent. If there are any children they shall also be allowed to accompany their father or mother.

44. If any labourer whose contract has been executed by a garden-sirdar on behalf of his employer, be brought to Calcutta on his way to the labour districts, any person empowered to act as the agent or representative of such employer may require the labourer to appear before the superintendent of emigration in Calcutta for the purpose of cancelling the contract. The superintendent of emigration shall, on the appearance of such labourer, declare that the contract is cancelled, if a sum of money sufficient for his support and that of his dependents during their return to the place at which he was engaged be paid to him before himself and not otherwise, and shall make an endorsement to that effect on the contract, and shall attest it with his signature. Provided that the contract of any husband or wife or parent or child of such labourer, who may have executed a contract at the same time with the same employer, shall be cancelled at the request of such labourer; and in such case an equal sum of money shall be paid to each labourer whose contract is so cancelled.

CHAPTER 4.—Contractors, Sub-Contractors, and Contractors' Recruiters.

45. It shall be lawful for any superintendent of emigration, who is specially empowered by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in that behalf, to grant to such persons as he may think fit, licenses to act as contractors for engaging and supplying persons for the purpose of labouring for hire in the labour districts, or to act as sub-contractors or as recruiters in behalf of some contractor for engaging persons to proceed to the labour districts for the purpose of labouring therein for hire under this Act.

46. The license granted to a contractor under section 45 shall be in such form as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may by rule prescribe. For every license there shall be paid to the superintendent of emigration granting it a fee not exceeding one hundred rupees; every such license shall be in force for one year, and no longer; and in case of misconduct or disobedience to, or neglect of, any of the provisions of this Act, or of any rule of the local Government by a contractor, the superintendent may in his discretion cancel the license of such contractor before the expiration of such period, subject only to an appeal to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, whose orders shall be final.

47. It shall be the duty of every contractor to afford such information to any superintendent of emigration, and to make such returns and reports as the superintendent may, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, from time to time require.

48. Every contractor shall forthwith, upon obtaining his license, establish depôts in such places as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may direct. Every such depôt shall be maintained by such contractor for the reception of natives of India to be supplied or forwarded by or through him. All such natives shall, on their arrival at or in the neighbourhood of the depôt so established by the contractor, by, through, to, or for whom they were engaged or forwarded, be forthwith received therein; and shall receive in such depôt, at the expense of such contractor, suitable lodging, food, clothing, and medical attendance until such native shall be declared by the superintendent having jurisdiction to be no longer thereto entitled. Every such depôt as aforesaid shall be under the supervision of such superintendent or other officer as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct, and shall be open to his inspection and the inspection of the medical inspector in charge at all times.

49. In addition to the depôts for the reception of emigrants which the contractors are required to establish and maintain, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may at any time direct that a separate depôt shall be established and maintained at any place for the reception of emigrants who are affected with cholera or other contagious disease. Whenever such hospital depôt is established, any contractor may be required to contribute to the expense of establishing and maintaining it in such proportion as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct. Such hospital depôt shall be under the charge of such medical officer as the Lieutenant-Governor may appoint, and any medical inspector shall be competent at any time to direct the transfer thereto of any emigrants on or after their arrival at any depôt in the neighbourhood subject to his inspection.

50. The license granted to a sub-contractor shall be in such form as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may by rule prescribe.

The same sub-contractor may be licensed to act for several contractors on payment of a separate fee for each. Every such license shall be in force for one year and no longer; and in case of misconduct or disobedience to, or neglect of, any of the provisions of this Act, or of any rule of the local Government by a sub-contractor, the superintendent may in his discretion cancel all the licenses held by such sub-contractor before the expiry of such period, subject only to an appeal to the Lieutenant-Governor, whose orders shall be final.

54. Contractors shall be held generally responsible for the good conduct of their sub-contractors and recruiters, and shall be bound to make good all payments ordered to be made by any of such sub-contractors or recruiters under any of the provisions of this Act or of any rule of the local Government. Their licenses shall also be liable to be cancelled on account of the misconduct of any of their sub-contractors or recruiters, provided that they shall only be liable to criminal penalties for acts done with their own knowledge and consent.

Recruiter must hold a pass.

Liability of contractors.

55. A recruiter shall not have authority in any district under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to engage or attempt to engage a native of India to become an emigrant until his license has been countersigned by the Magistrate of the district or of the division of the district, or in Calcutta, until his license has been countersigned by the Commissioner or the Deputy Commissioner of Police in Calcutta; and such Magistrate or Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of Police shall, unless it appears to him that the person to whom a license has been granted is unfit to be employed as a recruiter, countersign such license.

On the appearance of such native, the registering officer, after inspecting the medical certificate, shall examine him with reference to his engagement, and if it appears that he understands such engagement as regards the locality, period, and nature of the service, and that he is willing to fulfil the same, the registering officer shall register in a book to be kept for the purpose such particulars regarding him and his dependents as the Magistrate charged with superintendence of accommodation.

57. Every native of India who shall, in any place or town within the said provinces, enter into any engagement with any recruiter to proceed to a labour district for the purpose of labouring for hire, shall be brought by such recruiter before such medical officer as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may from time to time appoint to examine such natives within such place or town; or, if no such officer has been appointed, before such medical officer as the registering officer may direct. The medical officer shall thereupon examine the native brought by the recruiter, and shall if satisfied that he is suffering from no infectious or contagious disease, and able in point of physical condition to journey to the labour districts, give a certificate in writing to that effect.

Native to be taken for examination to medical officer, who may reject.

58. Every such native who is certified by the medical officer, as required in the last preceding section, to be free from infectious or contagious disease and fit to journey to the labour districts, shall thereupon be brought by the recruiter before the registering officer of the district or division of the district within which the place or town where the engagement was entered into is situate. Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may by rule prescribe.

If the registering officer thinks that such native does not understand the nature of the engagement, or has been induced to enter into the engagement by fraud or misrepresentation, or if the recruiter shall not have produced his license, he shall refuse to register such native.

59. A certified copy of his registration, written on substantial paper, shall be furnished by the registering officer to each emigrant.

60. A certified copy of every such registration, and the original certificate of the medical officer, shall be forthwith forwarded by the registering officer to the superintendent having jurisdiction over the depôt to which such emigrant is to proceed.

61. For every such native produced before a registering officer for the purpose of being registered as an intending labourer the recruiter shall pay a fee not exceeding one rupee.

62. The provisions of the five preceding sections shall be applicable to all natives of India engaged by recruiters within the town of Calcutta, except that they shall be brought for registration before the superintendent of emigration therein, or such other registering officer as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may appoint.

63. Every native of India who shall be brought or induced to come by any recruiter from any province or district not under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, for the purpose of entering into a contract in a district under such control, shall be presented by the recruiter for medical examination and registry under the provisions of this Act at some place within the district under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor, into which he shall first come, or at Calcutta, if he shall first come there.

64. Every recruiter who forwards or accompanies any native of India from the district or division of the district within which the place or town where he has been recruited is situate, or into which, under the last preceding section, he has first come; or who induces any such native to leave such district or division of district for the purpose of proceeding to a labour district, without being duly registered as above required; or who forwards, accompanies, or induces any such native to proceed to any depôt other than a depôt in a place approved of under section 48, shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished in respect of every such native so forwarded, accompanied, or induced, with a fine which may extend to fifty rupees, or with imprisonment, simple or rigorous, for a term which may extend to one month.

65. All emigrants proceeding to a depôt shall be accompanied throughout the journey by the recruiter himself, or by a competent person deputed by him with the approval of the registering officer by whom such emigrants have been registered. The registering officer shall give to the person so deputed a certificate under his signature, stating that he has been deputed for the journey to the depôt.

66. Every recruiter or person deputed by him, by whom any emigrant is forwarded or accompanied to a depôt shall, throughout the journey, provide such emigrant and his dependents with proper and sufficient food and lodging. If it shall appear to a Magistrate, on the complaint of any such emigrant at any place on the journey, that the recruiter or person deputed by such recruiter has failed to provide such emigrant and his dependents with proper and sufficient food and lodging at such place, such recruiter or person deputed by him shall, on conviction by such Magistrate, be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees. The whole or any portion of such fine may be awarded to such emigrant as compensation. If the fine be not paid within twenty-four hours the recruiter or person deputed by him shall be punished with imprisonment, simple or rigorous, which may extend to one month.

CHAPTER V.—Contractors' Depôts.

67. Within twenty-four hours after the arrival at any depôt of any emigrant, the contractor by whom such depôt is maintained shall give to the superintendent of emigration having jurisdiction a notice in writing of such arrival, which notice shall be in such form, and shall contain such particulars, as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may by rule prescribe.

68. The medical inspector shall have the general charge and supervision of all the medical and sanitary arrangements of the depôt. He shall examine every emigrant and dependent admitted into depôt with a view to ascertaining his continued freedom from infectious or contagious disease. He shall also examine all gangs of labourers and dependents leaving the depôt for the labour districts, and furnish in the way-bill of each such gang a certificate of their fitness to travel and their freedom from infectious and contagious disease.

69. If the medical inspector shall certify that any emigrant or any dependent of such emigrant so examined is in such a state of health that his journey to the labour districts would be dangerous to himself or to others, the Superintendent may order the contractor to pay to him a sum of money sufficient to enable him to return to the place at which such emigrant was engaged: provided that any such emigrant or dependent who from his state of health is, in the opinion of the medical inspector, unfit to undertake the journey back to the place where he was engaged, shall, until he is reported by the medical inspector fit to undertake such journey, be fed, clothed, lodged, and medically attended at the expense of such contractor. If such contractor negligently or wilfully omits to provide food, clothing, lodging, and medical attendance for such emigrant or dependent, the superintendent may make such provision for the food, clothing, lodging, or medical attendance of such emigrant or dependent at the cost of such contractor as may seem to him necessary, and may further order such contractor to pay to any such emigrant or dependent a sum of money by way of compensation.

70. Whenever an emigrant or dependent remains behind or is detained under the provisions of the last preceding section, it shall be optional with the wife or husband of such emigrant or dependent, as the case may be, to remain with the emigrant or dependent so remaining behind or detained. If there are any children, they shall also be allowed to remain behind with the father or mother.

71. If, upon the arrival of any emigrant at a depôt, it shall appear to the superintendent of emigration, on the complaint of such emigrant, that he or any of his dependents has suffered any ill-treatment on the journey, or that the recruiter has failed to provide him and his dependents with proper and sufficient food and lodging, the superintendent may cause him and his dependents to be removed from the depôt, and may order the contractor, for or by whom he shall have been taken to such depôt, to pay to him a sum of money by way of compensation, or sufficient to enable him and his dependents to return to the place at which he was engaged; and in such latter case he shall not be bound to execute any contract.

72. Every emigrant, who is passed by the medical inspector as in a fit state of health, and able, in point of physical condition, to journey to the labour districts, shall execute a contract under this Act with the employer with whom he intends to contract, before he is forwarded from the depôt. Such contract shall, in the presence of the superintendent of emigration, be signed in duplicate both by the emigrant and by the employer with whom he intends to contract, or by his agent. The contract may be written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, and shall be on substantial paper. Before the emigrant signs the contract, the superintendent shall personally explain it to him, and shall attest such contract and certify at the foot thereof that he has so personally explained the same.

73. Any emigrant who, without reasonable cause, refuses to execute such contract in conformity with the engagement previously registered shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with a fine equal in amount to the entire cost incurred by, or on behalf of, the contractor, in engaging, registering, and bringing or forwarding him to the depôt, and shall forthwith be discharged from such depôt. Every fine levied under the provisions of this section shall be paid to the contractor on whose behalf or by whom the person from whom such fine shall have been levied was originally registered.

74. If within thirty days after the arrival of any emigrant at a depôt, the contractor, on whose behalf or by whom such emigrant has been registered, shall not tender to him for execution such contract as under the provisions of the preceding sections he would be bound to execute, the superintendent may order the contractor to pay to him a sum of money sufficient to enable him and his dependents to return to the place where he was engaged, and in such case such emigrant shall not be bound to execute any contract.

75. If any contractor who may be ordered, under the provisions of sections 69, 71, and 74 to pay any sum of money, shall for twenty-four hours omit to comply with such order, it shall be lawful for the superintendent to advance the amount so ordered to be paid to the person named in such order, and to recover from such contractor the sum so advanced, with interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the date of such advance.

76. Each gang of labourers and dependents despatched from a contractor's depôt to the labour district shall be accompanied by a way-bill drawn up in such form and subject to such regulations and conditions as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may by rule prescribe.

CHAPTER 6.—Transport.

77. Nothing in this chapter shall apply to the transport by sea of native passengers or emigrants to the labour districts of Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts, which shall in all cases be regulated by the provisions of the Native Passengers Act, VIII of 1876.

78. It shall not be lawful for the master of any vessel, without a license granted by an Embarkation Agent duly empowered by the local Government in that behalf, to convey more than twenty native passengers at any one time to or towards the labour districts of the Assam Valley, Cachar or Sylhet.

A fee not exceeding sixteen rupees, as the local Government may by rule direct with reference to the size of such vessel, shall be paid for every such license, and it shall be in the discretion of the Embarkation Agent to whom application for license is made, to grant or withhold any such license. Such license shall be in force for only one voyage to one or more of such labour districts.

The local Government may, if it think fit, grant a license to any vessel, which shall hold good for any term not exceeding one year, on payment of such fee not exceeding one hundred rupees, and on such conditions as such local Government may fix.

The license shall show the maximum number of native passengers which such vessel may carry under the provisions of any rule of the local Government made in that behalf; provided that it shall be competent to any embarkation agent in accordance with any such rule to limit the number of native passengers to be carried on any particular voyage or part of a voyage.

Penalty for carrying without a license. The master of any vessel in which at one time more than twenty native passengers are conveyed without a license having been obtained as aforesaid shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine.

Lower to exempt vessels from license. The local Government may by rule exempt any vessel or class of vessels from the provisions of this section.

Penalty for delay in despatching vessel. 79. It shall be lawful for any embarkation agent when the departure of any vessel from the station to which he is appointed shall seem to him to be unduly delayed beyond the day fixed for such departure either by advertisement in the public press, or under any orders of any superintendent of emigration, or of the local Government, to order the master of such vessel to proceed. Failure to comply with any such order of an embarkation agent shall render the master liable on conviction before a Magistrate to fine for each day during which such vessel remains after the day on which such order was received by him.

Fraudulent alteration of vessel after grant of certificate. 80. If the master of any vessel after having obtained a license as aforesaid, fraudulently does or suffers to be done any act or thing whereby the state of the vessel is altered, so that such vessel is unfit for the accommodation of the number of native passengers mentioned in such license, or in any order of an embarkation agent under section 78, such master shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine.

Penalty for receiving on board more passengers than number specified in license. 81. The master of any vessel licensed to carry native passengers who receives on board his vessel a greater number of native passengers than the number specified in his license, or in any order of an embarkation agent under section 78, shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with a fine for every native passenger so received in excess of the licensed number.

Two children under ten to be counted as one person. 82. In computing under this Act the number of persons on board of any vessel, two children under the age of ten years shall be reckoned as one person only.

Master to make returns. 83. The master of every vessel licensed to carry native passengers shall keep such lists, submit such returns, and make such reports in regard to such passengers as the local Government may by rule prescribe.

Provisions, medical and other stores, medical officers, cooks, &c. 84. There shall be laden on board of any licensed vessel carrying labourers and their dependents to or towards any such labour district, such supplies of provisions, clothing, medical drugs, and other stores, and such medical and other officers, and such cooks and other attendants as may be required under any rules of the local Government.

Penalty if master proceeds without. The master of any such vessel who shall commence the voyage without having on board such supplies of provisions, clothing, medical drugs, and other stores, and such medical and other officers, and such cooks and other attendants as may be required as aforesaid, shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with imprisonment, simple or rigorous, for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Medical officer to be licensed. 85. No medical officer shall be appointed to any vessel licensed to carry native passengers unless he shall hold a license granted by such authority as the local Government may appoint in that behalf; and any licensed medical officer shall be forthwith removed from his appointment on the requisition of any officer empowered by the local Government to make such requisition.

Labourer not allowed finally to leave vessel at any place other than that mentioned in way-bill. 86. If the master of any licensed vessel carrying labourers shall, save as hereinafter is provided, cause or permit any labourer finally to leave such vessel at any place other than that named as the destination of such labourer in the way-bill of his gang, such master shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine for each such offence: provided always, that this section shall not be deemed to prevent the master of any vessel from permitting labourers to disembark at any place or places on the voyage so long as such disembarkation is not intended or known to be likely to be final; nor to prevent the final disembarkation of any labourers or the transfer of such labourers with their dependants to any other vessel in case of accident or other unavoidable necessity, if such accident or necessity be forthwith reported to the embarkation agent by whom the license of such vessel was granted, and to the nearest Magistrate in the district within which such accident may occur or necessity arise.

Master to report arrival of emigrants at every intermediate station where there is a Magistrate. 87. Every licensed vessel carrying native passengers shall stop at such places, being places where a Magistrate is stationed, as the local Government may appoint, and shall remain at each such place for such time not exceeding six hours of daylight as the local Government may by rule appoint, unless the Magistrate or officer deputed by him under section 96 shall permit an earlier departure. The master of every such vessel shall, immediately on arrival, report to the Magistrate or such officer as may have been deputed by him as aforesaid, the number of crew, native passengers, and labourers on board, the general state of their health, and the number of deaths (if any) which have occurred among the persons who embarked on such vessel.

Any master who wilfully omits to comply with the provisions of this section shall, on conviction, be punished with fine.

Magistrate may at any time inspect vessel. 88. A Magistrate may at any time go on board of any licensed vessel carrying native passengers while within the limits of his jurisdiction, and may inspect the vessel, the native passengers, and all persons on board. The master and officers of such vessel shall be bound to afford to such Magistrate all reasonable facility for such inspection, and to give him all such information respecting the labourers or other persons on board as may be reasonably required, and respecting any deaths which may have occurred on board, and respecting any other facts which may affect the health of the native passengers.

Any master or other officer who wilfully omits to give any such information to such Magistrate shall, on conviction, be punished with fine.

89. On the arrival of any licensed vessel, or at any time while it is within the limits of his jurisdiction, the Magistrate may regulate the communication between such vessel and the land, and may prohibit all persons from leaving the vessel and all persons on land from proceeding on board. And any person not complying with any order made under this section shall, on conviction, be punished with fine.

90. A Magistrate may, if he has reason to believe that any native passengers on board any licensed vessel within the limits of his jurisdiction are, or are likely to be affected with any dangerously infectious or contagious disease, detain such vessel and require the civil medical officer of the district or other qualified medical officer to inspect the native passengers on board such vessel, and to report on their health, and whether any or what measures are requisite for the removal or prevention of such disease. After the submission of such report, the Magistrate may order the disembarkation and detention of any native passenger suffering from any dangerously infectious, or contagious disease. If in the opinion of the inspecting medical officer it is dangerous to the health of the general body of the passengers to allow such vessel to proceed until measures have been taken to cleanse and disinfect her, the Magistrate may detain the vessel for a further period not exceeding three days for the purpose of the carrying out such measures, if any, recommended by the medical officer in his report, and he may further detain at such station for medical treatment any native passenger who is affected with any dangerously infectious or contagious disease.

91. If it appears to a Magistrate expedient that any labourer or any dependent of any labourer should not be allowed to proceed towards a labour district in consequence of ill-health, he may order the detention of such labourer or dependent; and in such case he shall cause all necessary arrangements to be made for the accommodation, support, and medical treatment of such labourer or dependent.

92. All expenses incurred under section 91 by a Magistrate, or other officer deputed by him under the provisions of section 96 in respect of any labourer or dependent so detained, shall, with interest at six per centum per annum, be recoverable by him from the employer of such labourer.

93. If it appears to a Magistrate making an inspection of any licensed vessel that the number of native passengers on board is larger than the number specified in the license, he may remove the excess number and detain them until another opportunity of forwarding them to their destination is found. The necessary expense of maintaining such native passengers and of conveying them to their destination, shall be recoverable by such Magistrate or other officer who may have been deputed as aforesaid from the master of such vessel.

94. In any case in which, on making an inspection of a licensed vessel, a Magistrate shall find that any of the provisions of this Act or of any rule of the local Government have not been complied with, he shall report the same to the embarkation agent by whom the license to carry native passengers was granted to such vessel; and, if the circumstances of the case are such as in such Magistrate's opinion make it necessary so to do, he may detain the vessel until the provisions of this Act, or any rule of the local Government as aforesaid, have been complied with, so far as to make it possible for the voyage to be further prosecuted with safety and reasonable comfort to the native passengers.

95. All matters connected with the disembarkation of labourers and their dependents, the inspection and accommodation of such on arrival, the detention of sick labourers or dependents at debarkation depôts, the forwarding of gangs to their destination, and the closing and return of way-bills by employers, shall be regulated by such rules as the local Government may lay down in that behalf, and all expenses incurred by any Magistrate, or debarkation agent under such rules, shall be recoverable from the employers of such labourers with interest at the rate of 12 per centum per annum.

96. The Magistrate of a district, or of a division of a district, may depute any subordinate Magistrate, medical officer, or gazetted officer of police, to exercise the powers and authorities conferred, and perform the duties imposed on a Magistrate under the provisions of sections 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 93, and 94.

97. Every master of a licensed vessel, or medical officer in charge of such vessel, who shall wilfully and knowingly neglect or refuse to obey or to enforce on board of such vessel any rule of the local Government shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine.

98. Any offence against any of the provisions of this chapter, or of any rule of the local Government, committed on board of any vessel may be tried by any Magistrate exercising jurisdiction in any place at which native passengers may have embarked on board such vessel, or may have disembarked from such vessel, or in any place in which such vessel may be detained under the provisions of this Act.

99. Any labourer who deserts while in transit from the district in which he has been registered to the district in which he has engaged to labour, may, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a period which may extend to three months. Such offence may be enquired into and tried in the district in which such labourer is apprehended, or in the district in which the desertion took place, or in the district in which he was registered.

PART III.—LABOUR DISTRICTS.

CHAPTER 7.—Inland Labour Transport Fund.

100. The local Government may from time to time, by order published in the official Gazette, fix a yearly rate, not exceeding one rupee per labourer, for the purpose of defraying the expense of carrying out the purposes of this Act; and the sum or rate so fixed shall be paid half-yearly by each employer on the first day of July and the first day of January in each year for each labourer then in his employ.

101. If any employer shall fail for the space of one month to pay any sums due by him under the provisions of the last preceding section, they shall be recoverable under the Public Demands Recovery Act (Bengal), 1880.

102. Subject to the powers conferred on a Magistrate by this Act or by the Code of Criminal Procedure of awarding fines in whole or in part as compensation to or for the benefit of any complainant or other person, all fines, fees, and rates levied and paid under this Act shall be credited to a fund which shall be called the "Inland Labour Transport Fund," and such fund shall be at the disposal of the local Government, in such manner as the Government of India may direct, for paying the salaries and allowances of all officers and establishments appointed under this Act and their pensionary and leave allowances, and generally for defraying the expenses of carrying out the purposes of this Act and the rules of the local Government. Any surplus accruing in such fund shall be applied to reducing the yearly rate or the registration fees leviable under this Act and not otherwise.

CHAPTER 8.—Locally engaged Labourers.

103. Any native of India may within the labour districts enter into a contract under this Act with an employer to labour therein for any term permitted by this Act. Such contract shall be signed in duplicate both by such native and by his employer; and may be written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, and shall be on substantial paper.

104. Any contract so entered into shall, within one month of the date of its execution, be forwarded by the employer to the Inspector having jurisdiction for registration; but it shall not be necessary for the employer to produce the contracting labourer before the Inspector for purposes of registration:

Provided that it shall be lawful for the Inspector, upon his next visit to the estate on which such labourer is employed after the registration of the contract, to cancel such contract if such labourer shall come forward and show sufficient cause therefor, but not otherwise.

105. There shall be payable by the employer to the Inspector in respect of such registration a fee not exceeding one rupee.

106. Notwithstanding anything in section 104 the employer may, if he think fit, produce any such native of India as aforesaid who is willing to enter into a contract under this Act before the Inspector or before any Magistrate, in which case the contract shall be executed in the presence of and attested by such Inspector or Magistrate, who before doing so shall personally explain the contract to such native.

No contract so executed and attested shall be liable to be cancelled by the Inspector in the manner before provided.

CHAPTER 9.—Jurisdiction of Inspectors.

Employers' Returns, and Magistrates' Inspections.

107. The local Government may define, by notification in the official Gazette, the local limits within which each Inspector and Assistant Inspector appointed by it shall exercise the powers and authorities conferred, and perform the duties imposed on him, by this Act, or by the rules of the local Government. Such Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors may be, by the said local Government, vested with all or any of the powers of a Magistrate.

108. An Assistant Inspector shall perform all such duties and exercise all such powers of an Inspector as he is authorized in writing by the Inspector to perform or exercise.

109. Every employer shall keep a register of all labourers and other persons in his employ in such form, and shall make to the Inspector such periodical returns in writing as the local Government may by rule prescribe. He shall also keep a monthly pay register showing the amount earned by each labourer in his employ during the month, all sums deducted from his earnings, and all balances due to him. The pay register, and the register of labourers and other persons employed, shall be open to the Inspector who shall have power to muster all such labourers and other persons employed on any estate, and to verify the accuracy of the entries in such registers, or in any prescribed periodical return: Provided that if there are no labourers employed on any estate, but there are more than 50 persons so employed who are not natives of the labour district in which the estate is situated, the manager of such estate shall keep a register of all persons so employed by him and submit such returns regarding them as the local Government may by rule direct.

110. If any employer or any manager of an estate shall refuse or wilfully omit duly to keep such registers, or to send in any return ordered by any rule of the local Government, or shall knowingly send in an incorrect return, such employer or manager shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine.

111. It shall be lawful for any Inspector or Magistrate exercising jurisdiction in the district, or any person authorized by either of them in writing in that behalf, at any time to enter and inspect any hospital, tent, camp, or building, wholly or partially used by or for labourers, and to require that any labourer shall be brought before him with his contract, and to make any inquiries which he may think proper touching the condition or treatment of any labourer.

It shall also be lawful for any Inspector or Magistrate, or any person authorized as aforesaid by either of them, to enter and inspect any hospital, tent, camp, or building on any estate in charge of a manager, as defined in this Act, when such hospital, tent, camp, or building is wholly or partially used by persons employed on such estate who are not natives of the labour district in which the estate is situated: And to require that any such person shall be brought before him; and to make any enquiries which he may think proper touching the condition or treatment of all such persons.

If any employer or any manager of an estate, or other person acting on their behalf, wilfully obstructs or impedes any entry, inspection, or inquiry made under this section, he shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for each such offence.

CHAPTER 10.—Regulation of Labour.

112. Every employer shall from time to time fix the daily tasks to be executed by his labourers, and shall frame a schedule of the same, and file a copy of every such schedule in a book which shall be open to the examination of the Inspector. A copy of each such schedule in the Bengali language shall be posted at the door of the pay office or some other convenient place accessible to the labourers. But it shall not be necessary to obtain the previous sanction of the Inspector to the schedule, and it shall not be necessary to send him a copy of the same unless he shall so request. The minimum payment for each daily task shall be the quotient resulting from dividing the minimum monthly wage of the labourer concerned by the whole number of days in the current calendar month.

113. No labourer shall be bound to work more than six days in one week, or more than six hours consecutively, or more than nine hours in any one day; and the labourer shall, on one day in seven, receive wages as for a full task done, without being required to work for the same. The employer shall, on six days in each week, provide for each labourer work sufficient to enable him to earn at least his minimum daily wage. Failing such due provision of work, the labourer shall be entitled to claim his minimum daily wage; but no such payment need be made to any labourer who absents himself on any working day for his own pleasure or convenience.

114. The Inspector shall have power at any time, if he considers any schedule of daily tasks, or any part thereof, to be unreasonable, to order in writing a reduction of the same. The employer, if dissatisfied with the Inspector's order, shall be at liberty, after in the first place carrying it out, to request a reference to a Committee consisting of the Inspector, of some employer to be nominated by him, and of some person to be nominated by the employer whose schedule is to be considered, or on his default, by the Inspector.

115. In case the said Committee or the Committee to revise majority in number thereof are of opinion that the daily tasks in such schedule contained, or any of them are unreasonable, they shall modify and reduce such daily tasks in such manner as they shall deem reasonable, and such schedule so modified shall be posted in the manner directed in section 112 and every such schedule shall have effect as between the employer and labourers in substitution for any former schedule.

116. The Inspector may, notwithstanding the existence of such a general schedule of tasks on any estate as is above provided for, order that any individual labourer who is from weakness unable to earn by his labour the sum of $1\frac{1}{2}$ annas per diem, according to the said schedule, shall receive in lieu of such actual earnings subsistence allowance at the rate of $1\frac{1}{2}$ annas per diem, or diet on a scale to be approved by the Inspector.

CHAPTER 11.—Incapacity for Labour.

117. It shall be lawful for the Inspector within the local limits of whose authority any labourer may be employed, to suspend for such period as he shall consider advisable, the contract of such labourer, or any particular term thereof, if such labourer shall be, in the judgment of such Inspector, temporarily unfitted for the performance thereof by reason of sickness, pregnancy, or other sufficient cause: Provided that every such suspension shall be endorsed by the Inspector on the contract: Provided also that every such labourer shall, during such incapacity, receive such subsistence money from his employer as shall be considered sufficient by the Inspector, and that the time during which the suspension continues shall not be reckoned as part of the term for which the labourer is bound to serve.

118. If any labourer shall absent himself from work, on account of sickness, for a period which shall not exceed the number of 30 days in any twelve calendar months, reckoning from the date of his contract, he shall receive for each such day of absence subsistence allowance at the rate of $1\frac{1}{2}$ annas, or, if in hospital, sick diet on a scale to be approved by the Inspector.

If the absence is for sufficient reason prolonged beyond the number of 30 days in any one year, subsistence allowance or sick diet shall be supplied as above, but each such day of absence in excess of 30 may be added to the term of the contract, unless the labourer shall refund to the employer the sum of 1½ annas for each such day of absence in excess of 30. The employer shall be bound to give to the labourer a written notice when he has been in this manner absent from work for the permitted number of 30 days, and the Inspector shall from time to time, when visiting the garden, endorse on the labourer's contract, after such enquiry as may be necessary, the number of days which he has thus to make good.

119. If it shall be found that any labourer has been compelled to perform any species of labour for which he was at the time unfit, the employer by whom he was so employed shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine.

Penalty for compelling labourer to perform work for which he is unfit.

120. If, in the opinion of the Inspector, any labourer shall be permanently incapacitated for the performance of his contract or any material part thereof, the Inspector shall certify to that effect in writing, and deliver such certificate to the employer of such labourer or some one on his behalf, and from the date of such certificate the contract of such labourer shall wholly cease and determine. Every labourer whose contract shall have been determined as aforesaid, shall be entitled to receive from his employer such sum, not exceeding three months' wages as the Inspector may award, and such sum shall be recoverable before a Magistrate in the manner hereinafter provided for the recovery of wages.

Discharge of labourer permanently incapacitated.

CHAPTER 12.—Necessary Provision for Labourers.

121. Whenever any labourers shall be employed in any labour district, the employer of such labourers shall be bound to provide for them sufficient and proper house accommodation, water-supply, and sanitary arrangements.

Sufficient house accommodation, water-supply, and sanitary arrangements, to be provided.

122. The local Government shall be competent to make rules to provide for the supply to the labourers by their employer of the staple food-grain ordinarily used by each class of labourers, when this is not procurable at reasonable prices in the local markets near his estate. The local Government shall from time to time determine, either generally or for each district or part of a district, and shall notify in the official Gazette what shall be deemed to be reasonable prices in the local markets, and the prices at which food-grains shall be supplied by employers.

Supply of food-grains by employer.

123. The Inspector shall, subject to any rules of the local Government, have power to order that (a) any particular class of labourers on any estate, or (b) all the labourers on any particular estate, shall be furnished with rations by their employer for any period dating from their arrival on the estate up to three months. The Inspector may exempt any individual labourer from the effect of any such general order, if it be shown that he is able to earn a full wage and desires to provide himself with proper food. The Inspector may at any time order that any individual labourer shall be put on rations for any term up to six months, and may from time to time renew such order. The scale of rations shall in all cases be determined by the Inspector, who shall also direct whether they are to be given cooked or uncooked. The cost of each labourer's ration, calculated at current rates as determined from time to time by the Inspector, shall be deducted from any wages earned by the labourer during the period for which the Inspector's order is in force.

Penalty for selling or buying rations.

Any person buying labourers' rations, and any labourer selling his rations, shall be punishable with fine which may amount to Rs. 50, or rigorous imprisonment for a term not exceeding one month on conviction by any Magistrate.

124. Every employer shall be bound to satisfy the Inspector that sufficient hospital accommodation has been provided and is available for his labourers within a reasonable distance of their habitations and that due provision has been made for their medical care and treatment in accordance with any rules that the local Government may from time to time lay down. In default of such provision the local Government may require any employer to contribute to the support of any central hospital, or to the pay of any circle medical officer in proportion to the number of labourers and other persons employed by him, and may further fix the fees to be paid by employers for the treatment of their labourers in any Government or Municipal hospital.

Provision for hospital accommodation and medical attendance.

125. It shall be lawful for any Inspector or Assistant Inspector, who is himself a Magistrate, to institute within his jurisdiction, on the estate in charge of any employer, or at some place within his jurisdiction not more than ten miles distant from such estate, an enquiry whether such employer has provided for his labourers sufficient and proper house accommodation, water-supply, sanitary arrangements, or food-grains or rations in accordance with the rules laid down by the local Government. On the complaint of any Inspector or Assistant Inspector a similar enquiry may be made by a Magistrate.

Enquiry whether employer has failed to provide as required by the rules.

126. If any employer is convicted of gross neglect in not having so provided sufficient and proper house accommodation, water-supply, sanitary arrangements, or food-grains or rations, such employer shall be punished with a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees. In any case where a Magistrate shall find that proper or sufficient house accommodation, water-supply, sanitary arrangement, food-grains or rations, have not been provided, he may order the employer to provide such proper and sufficient house accommodation, water-supply, sanitary arrangements, food-grains or rations. If the employer wilfully omits to comply with such order, he shall, on conviction, be punished with a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees a day for every day that such omission continues. In default of payment by the employer of the last mentioned fine, the person on whose account such employer has been acting shall be liable to pay the fine.

127. Wherever such sufficient hospital accommodation has not been provided, or due provision made for the medical care and treatment of labourers as above directed, the employer or other person making such wilful default shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with a fine for every week during which any such default continues.

CHAPTER 18.—Localities unfit for the residence of Labourers.

128. If an Inspector shall at any time have reason to believe that any estate or portion of an estate situated within the limits of his jurisdiction is by reason of climate, situation, or condition, unfit for the residence of labourers, or of any particular class of labourers, he shall give notice in writing of his opinion to the Magistrate of the district, and such Magistrate shall forthwith summon a Committee to enquire into the matter. Such Committee shall consist of the Magistrate, the Inspector, the Medical Officer of the district, and one or more employers of labourers, when such persons are available. If the Magistrate is unable to procure the service on such Committee of any employer of labourers, he may, with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, appoint one or more persons whom he may deem qualified.

Such Committee shall proceed, with as little delay as possible, to enquire into the healthiness of the estate or portion thereof to which the order appointing the Committee has reference, and shall hear such information on the subject as the owner of the estate, or the employer or Inspector, may desire to place before it; and if such Committee, or the major part in number thereof, shall be of opinion that such estate or any portion thereof be unfit for the residence of labourers generally, or of any particular class of labourers it shall record a finding to that effect; and the contract of every labourer who shall have contracted to serve on such estate, or of every labourer of the class in question, as the case may be, shall thereupon be void as regards such estate or portion of estate as may be found unfit for the residence of such labourers.

Provided that every such contract shall continue valid with regard to any other portion of such estate, or to any other estate of the same employer in the same district.

129. If it shall at any time appear that the number of labourers (as well labourers defined by this Act as others) who have died on any estate or portion of an estate during the preceding twelve months, bears a larger proportion to the whole number of labourers (as well labourers defined by this Act as others) employed thereon during such period than 7 per centum, or if the average annual number of labourers (as well labourers defined by this Act as others) who have died on such estate or portion thereof during the preceding three years bears a larger proportion to the whole number of labourers (as well labourers defined by this Act as others) employed thereon during such period than 7 per centum, it shall be lawful for the Local Government to direct the civil medical officer of the district or other qualified medical officer to enquire into, and report on, the following matters:—

- (1) The cause or causes of such mortality.
- (2) The want (if any) of due care or precaution, and of the adoption of proper and available sanitary measures, on the part of the owner of such estate or portion thereof, or the employer, causing or contributing to such mortality.
- (3) The fitness or otherwise of such estate or portion thereof for the residence of labourers and the reasons thereof.

Such medical officer shall proceed with as little delay as possible, and shall hear and record such information on the subject of the several matters aforesaid as the owner of such estate or portion thereof, or the employer or Inspector may desire to place before him, and shall visit and inspect such estate or portion thereof, and shall make his report expressing the reasons of his opinion, and transmit the same with the recorded information and notes of his inspection of such estate or portion thereof, to the local Government.

If the local Government, after perusal and consideration of the said report, information, and notes, shall be of opinion that such mortality was caused by the want of due care or precaution, and of the adoption of proper and available sanitary measures on the part of the owner of such estate or portion thereof, or the employer, it shall be lawful for the local Government to declare in writing that such estate or portion thereof is unfit for the residence of labourers. Such declaration of the local Government shall have the same effect as the finding of a Committee under the last preceding section.

130. Every employer who shall cause or permit any labourers to reside upon any such estate or portion of an estate as under the provisions of either of the two preceding sections may have been found to be unfit for the residence of such labourers, shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine. Provided always that in case it shall appear to the Inspector that any such estate, or portion of an estate, or any part of such portion, has become fit for the residence of such labourers, he shall, with the sanction of the Magistrate of the district, give under his hand a certificate of such fitness, and no employer shall be liable to fine by reason of his causing or permitting such labourers to reside in any place respecting which such certificate of fitness shall have been given.

CHAPTER 14.—Offences committed by labourers and enticement of labourers.

131. An employer may certify to the Inspector, on or before the 15th of each month, the names of all or any of his labourers absent from labour without sufficient cause during the preceding calendar month with the periods of such absence, and shall at the same time notify the fact that he has done so to each labourer concerned. The Inspector shall, when next visiting the garden, enquire, in the presence of the labourer charged, into each such case of unlawful absence, and if satisfied that the labourer has been so absent, shall endorse such days of absence on the contract of such labourer, and add them to the term of the contract, unless the labourer shall consent to forfeit to his employer the sum of four annas for each such day of absence. If any labourer has been absent from his labour without sufficient cause for more than seven consecutive days or for more seven days in any one month, he may, on conviction by a Magistrate, be sentenced to lose all claim to wages for the period of such absence, and to forfeit to his employer a sum not exceeding four annas for each such day of absence, and may be further rigorously imprisoned for a term not exceeding fourteen days: and if his unlawful absence has extended to twenty days in any two consecutive months, this period of imprisonment may be extended to one month.

132. If any labourer deserts from his employer's service, such employer, or any other person acting on his behalf, may, without first procuring a warrant, and without the assistance of any police officer (who nevertheless shall be bound to give such assistance if called upon so to do), apprehend such labourer: provided nevertheless that, if such labourer be found in the service of another employer, he shall not be arrested without warrant. Any person who shall apprehend a labourer under the provisions of this section shall without delay take such labourer to the police-station nearest to the place of his arrest; and failure to take such labourer to the police-station, as here directed, shall be an offence against the provisions of this Act. The police-officer in charge of such station shall, on the appearance of the parties, take down in writing the statement of the labourer and of the person apprehending him, and, having done so, shall permit the person apprehending the labourer to convey him to the estate of his employer. The statements recorded as aforesaid shall be forwarded without delay by the police-officer in charge of the station to the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction such station is situated. If the labourer refuse to accompany such person to the estate of his employer, the said police officer shall forward such labourer to the Magistrate along with the statements recorded as aforesaid. If the estate of the employer be not situated within the same jurisdiction, such Magistrate shall forward the statements and the labourer to the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction the estate of the employer lies.

The Magistrate within whose jurisdiction such estate lies may, on perusal of the statements, and shall, if the labourer in his statement deny the fact of desertion, summon before him such labourer, if not already forwarded to him in the manner above provided, and the employer of such labourer, or the person engaged in his apprehension, and shall proceed to adjudicate upon the charge of desertion. If the labourer in his statement or otherwise make any charge of ill-treatment against his employer or any other person, the Magistrate may either enquire into it himself or send the matter for enquiry to the Inspector having jurisdiction.

133. Every labourer who deserts from his employer's service shall, on conviction, be punished with rigorous imprisonment which may extend to one month; and every labourer who, after having been convicted of desertion, shall again desert from his employer's service, shall, on conviction as aforesaid, be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a period which may extend to two months; and every labourer who, after having been twice convicted of desertion, shall again desert, shall, on conviction as aforesaid, be punished with rigorous imprisonment, which may extend to three months.

134. If it appears to the Magistrate adjudicating upon any such charge as is mentioned in section 132, that such labourer has been apprehended or arrested without sufficient cause, it shall be lawful for such Magistrate to impose a fine not exceeding fifty rupees on the employer at whose instance such labourer has been apprehended or arrested, or to award compensation not exceeding fifty rupees to such labourer, and such compensation shall be paid by the employer at whose instance such labourer has been apprehended or arrested.

135. Any labourer guilty of habitual drunkenness, or wilfully disregarding any sanitary regulation approved by the Inspector and duly notified for the guidance of the labourers on the estate on which such labourer is employed, shall be liable, on conviction by a Magistrate, to fine which may amount to Rs. 5, or to rigorous imprisonment which may extend to one week.

136. On the expiry of any sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, save as is provided in section 137, it shall be the duty of the Magistrate to make over such labourer to any person appointed on the part of his employer to receive charge of him; and no conviction under this Act or imprisonment under such conviction, shall, save as is provided in section 137, be held to operate as a release to any labourer from the terms of his contract. Provided, nevertheless, that the period of imprisonment shall in no case be prolonged by reason of there being no person present on the part of the employer to take charge of the labourer at the expiry of his sentence; but such labourer shall in that case be sent to the principal place of business of such employer, and the expense of such conveyance shall be levied from the employer in the manner provided in section 101.

137. Whenever any labourer shall have actually suffered imprisonment, amounting in the whole to six months, for desertion from his employer's service, it shall be lawful for the Inspector, and he is hereby required, to cancel the contract of such labourer, and every such cancellation shall be certified by the Inspector on the back of the contract.

Cancellation of contract by desertion.

138. The employer, or any person authorized to act for the employer, of any labourer imprisoned for any offence under this Act, may apply to a Magistrate, at any time previous to the expiry of such sentence, that such labourer be made over to him for the purpose of completing his contract; and such Magistrate may, if he see good cause, make over or forward such labourer to his employer; and in that case such Magistrate shall cancel the remainder of the sentence passed on him and shall endorse on the contract of such labourer a memorandum signed by him of such cancellation.

Portion of sentence may be cancelled on application of employer.

139. Every employer who obtains an order for the return or forwarding of any labourer by a Magistrate, shall pay the expense incurred in such return or forwarding, and shall, before the order is issued, deposit with the Magistrate such sum as such Magistrate may in his discretion deem to be sufficient for defraying the expense of such return or forwarding.

Expense of restoring deserting labourer to be paid by employer.

140. The duration of every unlawful absence from labour, of which any labourer may be convicted, and every sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, shall be endorsed on the contract, at the time of its being passed, by the officer passing it; and no such period of imprisonment or unlawful absence so endorsed shall be reckoned as part of the term for which the labourer is bound to serve, but such term shall extend to such further period as shall be equivalent to the aggregate amount of the imprisonment and unlawful absence so endorsed.

Time of unlawful absence or imprisonment to be excluded from contract period.

141. Any person who knowingly and wilfully entices away, harbours, or employs, or attempts to entice from his employment, any labourer, before such labourer shall have been lawfully released from his contract, shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine, the whole or any portion of which may be awarded to the employer of such labourer, or with rigorous imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with both.

Provided that, if more than ten labourers

Failure to send labourers before the Inspector or Magistrate, or to give notice of their complaint in the manner above provided, shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine.

143. Whenever any complaint of personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act or of any rule of the local Government aforesaid is made to an Inspector or Magistrate by any labourer against his employer, or any person acting for such employer, or whenever any Inspector or Magistrate has other reasonable grounds for believing that any such personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act or of any rule as aforesaid has been suffered by a labourer, such Inspector or Magistrate shall forthwith, if the place in which such offence has been committed is not situated within the limits of his own authority, give notice thereof in writing to the Inspector or Magistrate within the limits of whose authority such place is situated; and if such place be situated within the limits of his own authority, then such Inspector or Magistrate shall, so soon as conveniently may be, proceed to some place not more than ten miles from the principal place of business of such employer, and make full inquiry into the matter complained of.

Procedure. Penalty of obstructing service of, or disobedience to, summons.

145. If, upon such inquiry made on the complaint of a labourer, the Inspector or Magistrate is of opinion that the complaint is untrue or frivolous, he shall dismiss the complaint, and in such case shall endorse on the employer's copy of the contract of such complainant the number of days during which such complainant has been absent from work in consequence of such inquiry, and such number of days shall be added to the period of the contract of such complainant. He may also award to the employer any reasonable compensation on account of any expense to which he may have been put in connection with such complaint, and shall endorse the amount of such compensation on the contract as a debt to be worked off by the labourer before the determination of his contract at the rate of one day's labour for each four annas of such debt.

If complaint is untrue or frivolous.

146. If, upon inquiry as aforesaid by a Magistrate or by an Inspector having the power of a Magistrate, such Magistrate or Inspector is of opinion that the complaint is well-founded, he shall dispose of the case according to due course of law. If the Inspector shall not be a Magistrate, he shall without delay send the complainant and his witnesses to the nearest Magistrate, and such Magistrate shall thereupon dispose of the case according to due course of law.

147. If, upon the complaint of any labourer, it is proved to the satisfaction of a Magistrate that the wages of such labourer are in arrear for two months, or if the wages of any labourer whose contract has determined are proved to the satisfaction of a Magistrate to have been withheld for any period after the date of such determination, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate to award to such labourer the amount which shall appear to be then due to him; and also, by way of total of such labourer's wages for four months; or if a Magistrate shall, on the report of the Inspector and after due inquiry upon oath, in the presence of the parties, be satisfied that any labourer has been compelled to perform any labour while he was unfit for it, or has been subjected to ill-usage by such employer, or any other person placed in authority over the labourer by such employer: it shall be lawful for the Magistrate, if he think fit, on the application of the labourer, in each of such cases, to cancel the contract of such labourer, and award to him compensation not exceeding thirty rupees, and every such cancellation shall be certified by the Magistrate on the back of such contract.

or if wages are in arrear for four months;
or if ill-usage is proved.

CHAPTER 16.—Determination of Contract.

149. The employer shall be bound to endorse on the contract of each of his labourers the fact of its determination when such determination takes place either by effluxion of time, or by mutual consent, or under any of the provisions of this Act. Any employer refusing to make such endorsement shall be liable, on conviction by a Magistrate, to fine, and the Inspector may, on the application of the labourer, make such endorsement if the employer refuses or neglects to do so.

Endorsement of determination on contract.

If an employer detains any labourer after the determination of his contract, or fails to give notice of such determination to the Inspector within one month after the date of such completion, such employer shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine.

150. If any labourer is able and desirous to redeem the unexpired term of his contract of service or of that of any member of this family by payment of a sum equivalent to the value thereof, such labourer may demand to be taken or allowed to go before the Inspector within the local limits of whose authority he may be employed, and on his depositing such sum in the hands of such Inspector, such Inspector shall give notice to the employer that such labourer requires him, within one week, to show cause why the contract of such labourer should not be released; and, in case no sufficient cause should be shown, such Inspector shall require the production of the contract of such labourer, and endorse thereon a certificate of release by purchase, and shall hold the sum in deposit on account of the employer of such labourer. If any employer, or other person authorized to act for the employer, shall neglect to comply with such demand as aforesaid, such employer, or other person as aforesaid, shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with fine.

Penalty if employer detains or omits to report.
Power to redeem contract.

The value of the unexpired term of contract shall be deemed to be the aggregate amount of one rupee for every month of the unexpired portion of the first year, of three rupees for every such month of the second year, and of five rupees for every such month of the third, fourth, and fifth years of the original term of the labourer's engagement.

“8. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners if they think fit, out of any moneys which may come into their hands under the provisions of this Act, and which can be so applied without prejudicing the security of the other creditors of the Commissioners under this Act, to repay to the said Secretary of State any sum which for the time being may remain due to him under the provisions of this Act for principal, although the time fixed for the repayment of the same shall not have arrived : provided that no such repayment shall be made of any sum less than ten thousand rupees; and that, if such repayment is made, the amount of interest in each succeeding half-yearly instalment shall be adjusted so as to represent exactly the interest due on the outstanding principal.”

Ac.

By virtue of the Act, No. IV of 1880, of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for making Laws and Regulations, entitled “The Calcutta Port Improvement Act Amendment Act,” We, the Commissioners for making Improvements in the Port of Calcutta, in pursuance of the powers vested in us in sections 9, 10, and 12 of the above Act, and in accordance with the advertisement, dated , in consideration of the sum of Rs. paid to us by , promise to pay to the said the sum of Rs. 30 years after the date hereof, together with interest thereon at the rate of 4½ per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the day of and the day of . or making the necessary investments on account of the sinking fund, the loan shall at once become repayable.

(Signatures of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman and two Commissioners.)"

4. For section 20 of the said Act IV of 1880, the following section shall be substituted:

"20. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may, on the recommendation of the Commissioners, from time to time, make such bye-laws consistent with this Act and with the Indian Ports Act, 1875, as he may think necessary for any of the following purposes (that is to say):

- (a) for regulating, declaring, and defining the wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers on and from which goods shall be landed from and shipped in vessels within the port;
- (b) for the safe and convenient use of such wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers and of landing-places, tramways, warehouses, sheds, and other works in and adjoining the same;
- (c) for regulating the reception and removal of goods within and from the premises of the Commissioners, and for declaring the procedure to be followed for taking charge of goods which may have been damaged before landing, or may be alleged to be so damaged;

(d) for the mode of payment of tolls, charges, dues, and rates levied under this Act;

(e) for the removal of wrecks from the port or the river, and keeping clean the port, the river, the bank of the river, and the works of the Commissioners, and for preventing filth and rubbish being thrown therein or thereon;

(f) for regulating the hours during which European seamen, and apprentices shipped on the same footing as European seamen, may be employed on board ships lying in the port or on wharves, quays, stages, jetties, and piers, in work necessitating exposure to the sun;

(g) for otherwise carrying out the purposes of this Act:

and may, from time to time, on the recommendation aforesaid, vary, alter, or revoke any such bye-law so made by him.

Previous to the making, alteration, or revocation of any such bye-law, the recommendation of the Commissioners in respect thereof shall be published for three weeks successively in the Calcutta Gazette."

5. In section 2 of Bengal Act V of 1870 as amended by Bengal Act VII of 1871 the words, "persons in number not more than thirteen nor less than nine," shall be substituted for the words "persons in number not more than twelve nor less than nine."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Port Commissioners finding that they were unable to raise loans in the open market under the restrictions imposed by section 17 of Bengal Act IV of 1880, represented the fact to Government. The matter being referred to me as Advocate-General, I recorded the following opinion:—

"Although I think that persons lending money to the Port Commissioners under the provisions of Bengal Act IV of 1880 would be practically safe, yet there exist doubtless legal objections which may be taken to the scheme developed by that Act with reference to loans and the remedies relating thereto. It has lately become usual to make loans repayable in default of payment of any one instalment of interest. There is no such provision in the Act, but, on the contrary, there is an express provision by which the principal may be tied up for 30 years.

Furthermore, no individual debenture-holder has any independent power of action in the event of any instalment of interest being unpaid, and all the ordinary legal remedies by decree and execution, or the appointment of a receiver by a civil court, are taken away from individual debenture-holders by section 17, and the appointment of a receiver is vested in the Lieutenant-Governor in the manner provided by that section. The objections above noticed principally stand in the way of the proposed loan being taken up. Sections 18 and 19, which appear to flow out of the provisions of section 17, are, I presume, also objected to.

Under these circumstances, the Act must, I think, be altered in such a manner as to get rid of the two principal objections above noticed; consequently sections 17, 18, and 19 must be omitted.

As a member of the Select Committee, I did not foresee the difficulties which have arisen. I thought that practical safety under the immediate supervision of the local Government, entailing no serious expenses, would have been a sufficient inducement to persons to lend money."

2. The Government of India have given their consent to the amendment of the law in such a manner as to remove the objections of capitalists to lend money to the Port Commissioners, and this Bill has accordingly been settled in consultation with the Port Commissioners and the Solicitor to the Bank of Bengal.

3. The opportunity is taken (1) to raise the maximum number of Commissioners to thirteen to enable the Lieutenant-Governor to add a member who shall represent the growing interests of Howrah, and (2) to empower the Lieutenant-Governor to make bye-laws regulating the hours of employment of European seamen and others in work necessitating exposure to the sun."

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 26th February 1881, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon within seven days:—

A Bill to amend "The Cess Act, 1880."

Preamble.
WHEREAS it is expedient to amend "The Cess Act, 1880," passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council: It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. In section 9 of "The Cess Act, 1880," for the figures "111" the figures "109" shall be inserted.

2. In section 10 after the words "public works cess," the words "and all interest paid thereon" shall be inserted.

3. In section 13 after the words "in accordance with any valuation," the words "or revaluation" shall be introduced.

4. After section 40, the following section shall be inserted, namely:

"40A. Notwithstanding anything in the definitions of "estate" and "tenure" in section 4 or elsewhere in this Act contained, the Board of Revenue may direct that any land (other than the holding of a cultivating ryot) of which the rent or revenue is payable directly to the Government as proprietor thereof, shall for the purposes of this Part be deemed to be a tenure and not an estate, and that the Government shall be deemed to be the holder of the estate within which such tenure is included, and thereupon the Collector may recover any sum payable from such tenure under the provisions of this Act, in the same manner and under the same penalties as if the same were arrears of rent or revenue due to him"

5. In section 43, after the word "proportionately" the words "to the land revenue" shall be inserted.

In clause 3 of the same section, for the words "the last preceding section," the words "this section" shall be substituted.

6. In section 45 after the word "twelve" the words "and a half" shall be inserted.

7. In section 46, clause (3), for the word "section" the word "clause" shall be substituted.

8. In section 108, after the words "cesses under this Act" the words "not being interest levied in respect of public works cess" shall be added.

9. In the heading of column 4 of Part II, Schedule A, after the word "occupied" the words "if known" shall be added.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to correct certain errors which are found to have crept into the edition of the Bill to repeal the previous Cess Acts, which was ultimately passed by this Council and assented to by the Governor-General, and so became law as Act IX of 1880.

The opportunity is taken to make one or two amendments in the Act which the working of it has shown to be desirable.

think necessary for any of the following purposes; that is to say,—

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Archdeacon of Calcutta has recently brought to the notice of Government the unsatisfactory state of the Calcutta Government Cemeteries owing to the want of some one controlling authority. These Cemeteries are used by members of different Christian sects, and it is therefore undesirable to place any individual in general charge of them. It is proposed to constitute a Burial Board, on which the Town, the Government, and the various religious bodies using the Cemeteries, shall as far as possible be represented, and to entrust to this Board the necessary powers of control. Provision is made for enabling the owners of private Burial Grounds to place them under the control of the Board on such terms as the local Government may approve.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of the introduction of this Bill is to remove all doubts as to the legality of charging pensions of employes of the Court of Wards upon the funds derived from Wards' estates.

The opportunity is taken to amend the existing law on several points in which experience of its working has shown that amendment is needed.

The 4th March 1881.

Extract from a Memorandum by the Board of Revenue,—dated 9th February 1881.

THE existence of section 17, Act XI of 1859, was evidently overlooked when Bengal Act IV of 1870 was passed; and again, when Bengal Act IX of 1879 was passed, as those Acts contain provisions for the exemption from sale of estates belonging to minors, which ignore the provisions of section 17 of Act XI of 1859 on the same subject.

The following synopsis compares the provisions of the two laws :—

Synopsis comparing Sections 23, 24, and 25 of the Bengal Wards Act, IX of 1879, with the first part of Section 17, Act XI of 1859.

Bengal Act IX of 1879.	Section 17, Act XI of 1859.	REMARKS.
Section 23.—Every estate, and, subject to the provisions of section 14 of Act XI of 1859, every part or share of an estate for which a separate account has been opened under section 10 or section 11 of the said Act, or under section 70 of Bengal Act VII of 1876, shall, whilst it is under the charge of the Court, be exempt from sale for arrears of revenue. Provided that all arrears of revenue shall be the first charge upon the proceeds of any such estate, part, or share sold for any other cause than for arrears of revenue while under such charge. Section 24.—No estate, the sole property of a minor, or of two or more minors, and descended to him or them by the regular course of inheritance, or by virtue of the will of, or some settlement made by, some deceased owner thereof, shall be sold for arrears of revenue accruing subsequently to his or their succession to the same, until such minor, or one of such minors, has completed his age of twenty-one years. But all arrears of revenue shall be the first charge upon the proceeds of such estate, if the estate is sold for any other cause during such minority. The Collector may, on an arrear so accruing on any such estate, attach the estate and collect the rents and all arrears of rent due, managing the estate either directly or through a manager, or by farming it, as he may think fit, for a period not exceeding ten years, nor extending beyond the time when such minor, or one of such minors completes his age of twenty-one years. Section 25.—The exemption from sale for arrears of revenue given by section 24 shall only apply to cases in which a written notice of the fact that the estate is the sole property of one or more minors, and entitled to such exemption, has been served on the Collector before the sale.	No estate shall be liable to sale for the recovery of arrears which have accrued during the period of its being under the management of the Court of Wards. ..... And no estate, the sole property of a minor or minors, and descended to him or them by the regular course of inheritance duly notified to the Collector for the information of the Court of Wards, but of which the Court of Wards has not assumed the management under Regulation VI, 1822, shall be sold for arrears of revenue accruing subsequently to his or their succession to the same, until the minor or minors, or one of them, shall have attained the full age of eighteen years. ..... ..... Substance duly notified to the Collector for the information of the Court of Wards.	The words italicised show a material difference between the two Acts. Act IX follows section 2, Bengal Act IV of 1870; but it is remarkable that section 4 of Act IV differs from its section 2 and follows section 17 of Act XI of 1859. No corresponding provision in Act XI of 1859. The words "or by virtue of the will of some deceased owner thereof" are introduced for the first time in section 6 of the Act of 1870, and are thence imported into section 24 of the Act of 1879. The words "or some settlement made by" appear for the first time in the Act of 1879. In the Act of 1870 the age mentioned was eighteen years. No corresponding provision in Act XI of 1859. The words are taken from section 4 of the Act of 1870. No similar provision in the Act of 1859. A provision for farming only in sections 6 and 7 of the Act of 1870. A similar provision in section 6 of the Act of 1870.

The question will then be for consideration whether section 23 of the Act of 1879 shall stand as it is, or be amended.

Shall the law exempt—

(a)—Estates and shares of estates as mentioned in section 23 from sale for arrears of revenue only while any such estate or share is under the management of the Court? If so, when once the Court takes charge of the property of a Ward, no individual estate forming a part of that property can be sold even for arrears which had accrued before the Court took charge; but, on the other hand, an estate may be sold immediately after the property is released for the recovery of arrears which have accrued during the Court's management;

(b)—Or shall the law exempt such estates and shares from sale for recovery of such arrears only as have accrued during the period of their being under the management of the Court of Wards? If so, an individual estate may be sold even while the property of which it forms a part is under charge of the Court for arrears which accrued before such charge was taken; but, on the other hand, arrears of revenue due on any estate at the time of the property being released, can never be recovered by sale of the estate;

(c)—Or shall the law give protection in both cases?

First as to (a). It is quite clear that the Government should not be precluded from recovering by sale of an individual estate forming part of a property of which charge has been taken by the Court, arrears of revenue which had accrued before the Court took charge. It may be that the property is involved, and that no funds can be made available to discharge such arrears, or it may be that the estate being unprofitable, the proprietors had deliberately allowed the arrear to accrue in order to get rid of the liability for revenue by allowing that particular estate to go to sale.

If, on the other hand, it is for the interest of the Ward to save the particular estate from sale, and if funds are available, or are likely soon to be available, the Collector would certainly exercise his discretionary power of exempting the estate from sale for the arrear. Nor will it in every case be for the interest of the Ward that the Manager should be debarred from letting an individual estate go to sale immediately, and while the property is in charge of the Court for an arrear which has accrued during the Court's management. There may be no other way of getting rid of the liability of paying revenue on an over-assessed estate, or one which has deteriorated or become otherwise unprofitable to the Ward.

In a recent case, in taking over charge of a property, it was found that the proprietors had been regularly paying revenue for two estates of which no one knew anything except that they had not been in the possession of the family for years; recovery was hopelessly barred by limitation; the obvious course for the interest of the Ward was to default and let the estates be sold, and so get rid of the liability for revenue. In that case the parties in possession might have thought it worth while to complete their title by buying at the sale; if they had not done so, the Government might have bought in the estate and taken to assert its right.

But the law now does not admit of these estates being brought to sale because they are in charge of the Court; if the Managers were to default in paying the revenue the arrear must be allowed to accumulate as long as the property remains in charge of the Court, and then be written off as a bad debt; for there would be no means of recovering it, neither the Government nor the Ward could do anything to recover the estate.

Under these circumstances, the Board decided in this difficult case that the least inequitable arrangement as between the State and the Ward was that the latter should go on paying in the revenue regularly till the end of his minority—some six years hence.

Whatever may be the merits of this order, it is very doubtful whether the provisions of section 48 of the Act admit of anything else being done; instalments of Government revenue are the first charge on "all moneys received by the Managers."

If this power of recovery of arrears by sale of the estate is not reserved to the Government, some other provision must be made for the recovery of the arrear: as the law now stands, Mr. Dampier is aware of no such provision.

A recent case will illustrate these remarks. A certain estate which formed the greater part of a heavily-involved property was let in farm some years ago by the Manager of the Court of Wards. The rent payable by this farmer was the mainstay of the property. As the time for the property passing out of the charge of the Court drew near, the farmer defaulted, immediately throwing the property into the greatest difficulties. There were no funds from which to pay the land revenue demand on the large estate. The Manager instituted a suit and got a decree, but the decree could not be executed before the Ward reached his majority, and the property passed out of the charge of the Court. Arrears of revenue, which had accrued during the management of the Court, were therefore outstanding. The estate cannot be sold, and the law provides no other means for the recovery of the arrear, even though the judgment-debtor should at once pay to the proprietor the amount of rent due on the decree which should have been devoted to the payment of the revenue.

In another case of a small property, now pending before the Board, the property is falling into arrears of revenue, but there is reason to hope that, if it were released from the Court's expensive management, and placed under the management of the Ward's friends, it might be made to yield a surplus. If, however, the Board release the property while an arrear of revenue is due, the amount may be irretrievably lost. The Ward is a lunatic, and no one would enter into a personal bond undertaking to make good the amount of arrear.

Such cases as these show that if absolute protection is given from sale for arrears accruing during the management of the Court of Wards, there is some danger of the original object of the establishment of the Court's jurisdiction being missed. The object was to protect the State from loss of revenue, but now to take an estate under the management of the Court is certainly to enhance the risk of losing revenue.

H. L. DAMPIER.

Extract from a letter from the Commissioner of the Presidency Division to the Board of Revenue, No. 294, dated 27th January 1881.

BABOO KALICHURN GHOSH, the Manager of the Narail estate in Jessore, draws attention to sections 48 and 49 of the Wards' Act. "These sections," he remarks, "refer to priority in the application of the funds of a Ward. It is, I submit, absolutely impracticable to work these sections. The wording of section 48 appears, again, not to be clear, and it omits important classes of expenditure, such as rent and cesses due to private proprietors. As the section stands, the Manager is required in every instance to apply to the Court for sanction to the application of money received by him. He cannot regulate his expenditure under any general orders of the Court. I think these omissions should now be supplied, and the defects noticed removed. It is doubtful whether the Court has any authority to give precedence to expenditure mentioned in section 49, to that described in section 48. In practice, however, we cannot avoid doing so. If a creditor threatens to sell an estate, we are obliged to pay him whether there are any arrears of maintenance allowance due to the guardian or not; further, several of our Hindoo Wards keep up an establishment for the daily worship of certain idols, and no rigid Hindoo would take his food before the idols are worshipped. We cannot starve the family, and must therefore meet the daily Puja expenses along with the charges for the support of the family. Again, we maintain a school at our expense, and to keep up its efficiency, the establishment must be regularly paid, whether the accounts of the estate have been consolidated, or whether a bona fide surplus can be discovered or not, before the books are finally closed at the end of the year. I submit, therefore, for your consideration, whether a set of rules which are ignored in practice should remain in the Statute Book. It would, perhaps, be better if the law were only to legalize the different classes of expenditure, leaving the question of priority to be settled in each case by the local officers, under such general instructions as the Court may in that behalf issue. In connection with this subject, I may be permitted to add, that interest on debts payable by a Ward should be treated differently from the original debts. I believe the interest on the public debt is considered the first charge on the net revenue of Government, and in this view the interest payable by a Ward on his debts should, in point of priority, come after the payment of revenue, rent, and the cesses.

"The provisions of sections 48 and 49 cannot be strictly followed in practice. Section 48 omits to include expenditure incurred on account of rent and cesses due to proprietors other than Government. The Manager has to ask for sanction of the Court of Wards under such circumstances, and considerable inconvenience is felt for the want of any general rules to guide his expenditure. As the law at present stands, it seems to be doubtful whether the Court of Wards has any authority to give precedence to the classes of expenditure mentioned in section 49 to those mentioned in section 48. In practice, however, the rule of precedence of different classes of expenditure, laid down by those two sections, is very difficult to be observed, and in many instances, as in the case of a threatened sale of a minor's estate for his debts, cannot at all be acted upon. It seems, therefore, desirable that some better rule should be laid down to regulate the expenditure of minors in place of the provisions of sections 48 and 49 which are in a practical point of view considered as obsolete."

Collector's remarks.—Section 49 might possibly be advantageously amended, for, as it stands, it is clear that until all the claims contemplated in section 48 have been fully paid for, no expenditure can be made under section 49, because no bona fide surplus can be shown. In practice, this is often impossible. I would suggest, therefore, that section 49 be altered so as to run somewhat in this form:—

"The Court, if satisfied that all possible provision has been made for the payment of the charges specified in the last preceding section, may direct, according to the circumstances of the property concerned, the payment of money in liquidation of debts payable by the Ward, &c., &c."

"The Commissioners, at a meeting other than an ordinary meeting, may sell or let any part of the acquired land to any purchasers or lessees for the purpose and under the condition that such purchasers or lessees will, as respects the lands so purchased by or leased to them, carry the scheme prepared by the Commissioners for the improvement of the land into execution, and in particular they may insert in any grant or lease of any part of the land provisions binding the grantee or lessee to build thereon as in the grant or lease prescribed.

"The Commissioners may also engage with any firm, contractor, or person to carry the whole or any part of such scheme into effect upon such terms as the Commissioners may think expedient, or may themselves undertake the pulling down and rebuilding of the huts or buildings upon the area, and they may clear the whole or any part thereof, and may lay out, form, sewer, and complete all such streets upon the land purchased by them as they may think fit.

"Provided that in any grant or lease of any part of the area which may be appropriated by the scheme for the erection of dwellings, the Commissioners shall impose suitable conditions and restrictions as to the elevation, size, and design of the houses, and the extent of accommodation to be afforded thereby, and shall make due provision for the maintenance of proper sanitary arrangements.

"For the purchase of such land and the blocks of huts contained therein, and for otherwise carrying out the scheme for the improvement of such land, the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, with the sanction of the local Government, from time to time, borrow on the security of the rates, taxes, and dues imposed and levied on account of the municipal fund, or a portion of them, and at such rate of interest and upon such terms as to the time of repayment and otherwise as the local Government may approve, any sums of money the Commissioners may require for the objects aforesaid."

Amendment of section 292. 20. In section 292, for the words "market, building, shop, stall, or place used for the sale," the words "market, building, shop, stall, boat, vessel, wharf, godown, or other place used for the storage or sale" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 295. 21. For section 295, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

Registry of shops for sale of European drugs. "295. No place shall be kept for the sale of drugs enumerated in the British Pharmacopœia, unless the same shall have been registered in the office of the Commissioners. Any keeper of such place failing to register the same within two months of the passing of this Act, or within two months from the date of the establishment of such place, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

"Clause 1.—No person shall be authorized to compound, mix, prepare, dispense, or sell any such drug, unless he be duly certified as a fit person to be entrusted with such duties under rules to be hereafter made for that purpose by the local Government.

"Clause 2.—Any person not being a holder of such certificate, who shall compound, mix, prepare, or sell any such drugs, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each offence, and any owner, occupier, or keeper of any shop or place for the sale of such drugs, who shall employ any such uncertified person to perform any one or more of such duties, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, forfeit his license and be further liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

"Provided that the provisions contained in the first and second clauses of this section shall not come into operation for a period of six months after the publication of a notification to that effect in the Calcutta Gazette by the local Government."

22. In section 296, after the words "any drug in the said place is adulterated," the words "or by reason of age or the effect of climate has become inert or unwholesome, or has otherwise become deteriorated" shall be inserted.

23. To section 297 the following words shall be added :—

"And the owner or occupier of any such place, who shall omit to register the same, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees."

Introduction of new section after section 310. 24. After section 310, the following section shall be inserted, namely :—

"310A. The Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, from time to time, grant licenses for the sale at burning grounds of fuel and other articles used for the cremation of dead bodies, and may prescribe a scale of rates for the sale of such articles. It shall be at the discretion of the Commissioners to revoke or withdraw any such license at any time they may think fit.

"Any person to whom any such license is granted, who shall charge for the sale of any such article any higher rate than the rate fixed for such article in such scale, shall, at the discretion of the Commissioners, be liable to have his license cancelled, and shall also be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees."

25. In the fourth schedule, for the words " (Signature of the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, or Secretary)," the words " (Signature of the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Secretary, or Assessor)" shall be substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to give legal effect to the loan arrangements lately entered into between the Government of India and the Calcutta Municipality; also to provide for the repayment of municipal loans, which may be advanced by the public by extending the term of repayment from 30 to 60 years, or reducing the contribution to the Sinking Fund from 2 to 1 per cent.; to provide for the payment by the Municipality of a proportional sum towards the pensions of certain officers included in the Police budget; to give power to the Corporation to extend the water-supply to the suburbs, and to impose a water-rate upon the suburbs sufficient to cover all costs; to extend the powers of the Corporation with regard to the reclamation of bustees; to make provisions for the better regulation of drug-shops and for the employment of certificated compounders therein; and to make such other amendments in the provisions of the existing law as have suggested themselves by practical experience.

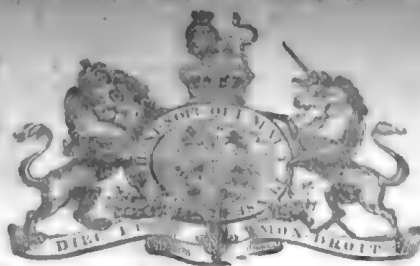

The reasons for these amendments will be found in detail in the Proceedings of the Council of the 19th February 1881.

Introduction of new section after section 61.

7. After section 61, the following section shall be inserted:—

"61A. Any person who, in contravention of the notification issued under section 17A, is found in possession of any foreign exciseable article, or of a larger quantity of any exciseable article than is permitted under such notification, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees."

Amendment of section 82.

8. For section 82, the following shall be substituted (namely):

"The local Government may, by notification in the Government Gazette, within any specified tract of country, exempt any exciseable article or foreign exciseable article from all or any of the provisions of this Act, and may from time to time by a like notification cancel such exemption."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE necessity for amending the Excise Act of 1878 has been brought to the notice of Government partly by a representation from the Board of Revenue, and partly by a communication from the Chief Commissioner of Assam. The Board have pointed out the practical inconvenience which results from the wording of section 58, which restricts the punishment for the illegal introduction, into one Excise Circle, of liquors manufactured beyond the limits of that Circle, to cases in which such liquors are introduced for the purpose of sale. It is practically impossible to prove that liquor is intended to be sold until it has actually been offered for sale; and the law has consequently been evaded to the serious detriment of the public revenue.

The Chief Commissioner of Assam has urged that the Act, as it stands, does not meet some cases of what may be termed "foreign exciseable articles." It appears that wild ganja, which pays no tax, grows plentifully in the hills to the north of Assam, and is smuggled to a considerable extent into the plains, but as the place of its production is beyond the limits of British India, the Act does not authorize any interference with this traffic, so long as it is carried on in quantities not exceeding a quarter of a seer. A further difficulty has been found in the working of section 64, which refers to liquors manufactured at any place in India beyond the limits of British India, but does not include such as are manufactured at places in British India in which no excise law is in force. The Jynteah Hills are referred to as an example of such a place.

It is proposed to introduce a short amending Act to meet these difficulties.

C. H. REILY,

Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Legislative Dept.

THE following report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill, as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

WE, the undersigned members of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to whom the Bill to amend The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876, was referred, have the honour to make the following report:—

We have considered the question of providing, by law, for the consolidation of the Government loans, and the handing over to Government of the Sinking Fund held against those loans—an operation already carried into effect. From an examination of the wording of Bengal Act I of 1872 and of Chapter XV of the present Calcutta Municipal Act, it appears to us that the arrangements between Government and the Municipality in respect of Government loans were not intended in any way to be affected by the provisions of the Municipal Acts, and that the Sinking or Reserve Fund, provided for by section 337 of the present Act, had reference solely to the fund formed by setting aside two per cent. on the total amount of the debenture loans contracted by the Commissioners under the provisions of former Acts. This being so, it is only necessary to make the intention of the law clear by inserting words in the penultimate clause of that section to show that the moneys and securities which are to be held by the Municipal Trustees "upon the trusts declared" in that section, did not include any moneys held as a Sinking Fund against sums borrowed from Government.

In respect of Sinking Fund provision against debenture loans, contracted under the Act of 1876, section 334 gives the Government full power to make all necessary stipulations, if section 337 is held not to require the calculation of Sinking Fund percentage upon the amount of such loans.

We have, however, by a separate section, provided that, in respect of future loans on account of drainage and water-supply, the Sinking Fund may be reduced to one per cent. on the net amount of such loans outstanding at the beginning of each year.

We have also considered the question of providing for an extension of the water-supply to the suburbs. We are all (with the exception of Baboo Kristodas Pal) of opinion that the simplest way of effecting this is to follow the lines of section 168 of the present Act, under which the local Government may declare any portions of the environs to be part of the town for the purposes of the drainage scheme. In the same manner if the local Government is empowered to declare any portion of the environs to be part of the town for the purposes of the water-supply, all the legislative sanction necessary will be given. The Government will then be in a position to act as supreme arbitrator between the Calcutta Corporation and the Suburban Municipalities. It is not necessary for the law to take cognizance of the details of any particular scheme of water-supply. We have, however, been shown grounds for believing that if the town should determine to have a 62-inch main for its own purposes without any reference to possible suburban demand, and should therefore be willing to charge against the suburbs only the cost of the necessary extensions and the increased pumping and filtering apparatus necessitated by such extensions, the levy in the suburbs of the same water-rate as in the town would give the town a very large interest on the capital so charged against the suburbs. Even if it be thought fair to charge against the suburbs a portion of the extra cost involved in having a 62-inch main, it seems improbable that the levy of an equal rate in town and suburbs would cause any loss to the town. We have, however, thought it safest to provide for the possible levy of a differential rate in the suburbs, if the Government should be convinced that good reason exists for allowing such a rate; but we restrict this to the maximum already allowed by the Act, as that appears to us, on the figures available to us, not only as much as the suburbs ought to bear, but as much as they can possibly afford to pay. It has been pointed out to us that the reduction of the contribution to Sinking Fund in the case of future water-supply and drainage loans has been allowed by Government only on the understanding that such works are permanent in character, and that the suburbs are to be brought on equitable terms within the water-supply. The Government would, it appears, refuse to recognise anything short of a 62-inch main as a permanent and satisfactory settlement of the water-supply question, even for the town itself. This being so, we think that the Corporation is bound to recognize a certain solidarity in this matter between the suburbs and the town, and it cannot fairly claim the right of charging against the suburbs expenditure which it could not in any case avoid. The difference between a one per cent. and two per cent. Sinking Fund is a material advantage which the town should set off against any little extra expenditure caused by the inclusion of the suburbs.

BABOO KRISTODAS PAL has recorded his views on the subject separately.

The rest of us dissent from this view, holding not only that the town has a real and strong interest in the sanitary condition and well-being of its suburbs, but that it owes some consideration to the residents of those parts, nearly all of whom work in the town and contribute to its wealth.

We have provided that the Suburban Municipalities shall, if required, assess and collect the water-rate for the Commissioners.

We come now to the minor amendments made by us in the Bill.

We have exempted from the operation of section 39 of the Act all officers and servants whose pensions are otherwise provided for under section 15 of the Bill.

In section 54 of the Act we have made the call for tenders and the approval of the Committee of the Commissioners unnecessary in all contracts over a thousand rupees entered into by the Commissioners in meeting.

We have altered section 77 of the Act so as to enable the court inflicting the fine to pay from the amount so obtained the sum due as license to the Commissioners.

We have made the provisions of section 96 of the Act applicable to night-soil fees.

We have made the operation of section 16 of the Bill contingent on the direction of the local Government with the sanction of the Governor-General.

In section 277 of the Act we have fixed a limit of 14 days after receipt of notice within which the Commissioners must decide whether they will interfere or not in respect of the erection of huts.

We have made it clear that the sanction of the local Government must be obtained to any scheme of improvement: and that, when such sanction is obtained, the municipal funds may legally be spent in carrying out such scheme.

We have added a clause to section 21 of the Bill making it imperative upon the Commissioners, in the event of their undertaking to carry out the scheme of improvement themselves, to complete such work within two years unless the time is extended by the direction of the local Government. The clause also provides for the ultimate disposal of the lands so purchased or leased by the Commissioners. It is not considered desirable that the Commissioners should hold improved lands permanently, or become in a general way owners of house property. We have in other respects amended the wording and arrangement of the section.

We have provided that the word "drug" used in the first clause of section 23 of the Bill shall, for the purposes of that clause, not apply to articles of ordinary domestic consumption. We have also provided for the granting of a license to all keepers of drug-shops affected by the clause, and for the exposure of such license in some conspicuous part of the shop or place.

We have enlarged the scope of the second clause of the same section by prohibiting the sale of any drug in any shop registered under the first clause except by persons duly certified under the provisions of that clause.

The penal provisions of the third clause of the same section have also been altered to meet the changes effected in the clause immediately preceding, and the forfeiture of license has been included among the penalties liable to be incurred upon infraction of the provisions of the section by the keeper of a retail drug-shop.

In section 26 of the Bill we have prohibited the sale of articles used for the cremation of bodies by any but licensed vendors within a range of three hundred yards of the burning ground, and added a penalty not exceeding a fine of fifty rupees to follow upon the contravention of this rule.

We have made a few other verbal alterations, and recommend that the Bill, as amended by us, be passed.

DISSENT.

I dissent from the view taken by my colleagues as to the terms on which the Calcutta water-supply should be extended to the suburbs. I am quite willing to see the benefit of the Calcutta water-supply extended to the suburbs, but hold that this should not be done at the expense of the town. I am of opinion that the extension should be made either by admitting the Suburban Municipality into a co-partnership with the Calcutta Municipality, or by selling water to the suburbs on the ordinary commercial principle. According to the first view, it appears that the increased supply of water from the extension of the present scheme would be twelve millions of gallons, of which two-thirds would be kept for the town and one-third would be given to the suburbs. The cost of construction and maintenance of the works I consider should be divided between the town and the suburbs on the same principle and in the same proportion. This would involve a charge of Rs. 1,80,893 upon the suburbs per annum, which the Suburban Municipality says, it is not in a position to pay. To apply the commercial principle strictly would not be advantageous to the suburbs, for in that case the seller might well claim the right of selling his own commodity at his own price. Considering, however, the community of interests between the town and the suburbs, I am quite willing to charge the suburbs only the out-of-pocket expenses, which will be incurred by the town in extending the supply to the suburbs. The data for the calculation of these expenses are roughly given in some of the papers of the Calcutta Corporation laid before the Select Committee. In calculating these expenses, the main point on which I am at issue with the majority is about the cost of the 62-inch main. I hold that a 42-inch main would double the supply of the town, that a 62-inch main would be necessary for the extension of the supply to the suburbs, and that the difference in the cost of the bigger main should in equity be borne by the latter. Following this principle, the capital outlay on suburban works, including interest during construction, would be in round numbers Rs. 15,50,000. The other items are not disputed. The figures, which have been furnished to me by the Engineer to the Calcutta Corporation, stand thus—

	Rs.
Interest on capital outlay	77,500
Contribution to Sinking Fund at one per cent.	15,500
Working charges	38,000
Cost of renewal of works at five per cent. on iron works and one per cent. on brick culvert	38,000
Total	1,69,000

An equal rate for town and suburbs is delusive, for one per cent. rate on assessed house property in town is productive of nearly six times as much as the same in the suburbs, that is to say, while one per cent. rate produces in Calcutta about Rs. 1,30,000 per annum, the same for the area of the suburbs estimated yields Rs. 24,547 per ditto.

The maximum water-rate proposed for the suburbs is six per cent. per annum, and as one per cent. rate in the suburbs, for the area to be supplied with water, is calculated to be equal to Rs. 24,547, a six per cent. water-rate would yield Rs. 1,47,282, leaving a deficit of Rs. 21,718. The question is whether the rate-payers of Calcutta can be fairly called upon to make up this deficit from their own pockets. It is on this point I am at issue with my colleagues, and as they would apparently saddle the town with this burden, I cannot agree with them. There are other points which I do not consider it necessary to notice here. I have no objection to the provision giving power to the Lieutenant-Governor to declare the suburbs as a part of the town for purposes of water-supply, but I think that the Government is bound to see that the town is not made to bear the burden of the suburbs in carrying out the orders of Government. It is observable that when I accepted the concession of Government to reduce the contribution to the Sinking Fund on account of future drainage and water-supply loans from two per cent. to one per cent. on the understanding that the 62-inch main should be adopted in order to enable the Calcutta Corporation to extend the water-supply to the suburbs, I did not for a moment understand that the town should bear any portion of the legitimate burden of the suburbs. The reduction of the Sinking Fund contribution would be a benefit common to the town and the suburbs. It would be a relief to the present generation of tax-payers, both in the town and in the suburbs. To call upon the town to make up the deficit of the suburbs on account of the extension of the supply would be to neutralize the benefit accorded to it by the reduction of the Sinking Fund contribution—in fact, it would be taking away with one hand the boon which has been conferred by the other.

KRISTODAS PAL.

"All expenditure incurred by the Commissioners under this section, in connection with the preparation of any scheme of improvement, the acquisition by purchase or lease of any lands for the purposes of any such duly sanctioned scheme, or the carrying out of any such scheme, shall be deemed to be expenditure to which the Municipal Funds are applicable under section 26."

"For the purchase of any land, acquired under this section, and the blocks of huts or other buildings standing thereon, and for otherwise carrying out any duly sanctioned scheme for the improvement of such land, the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may, with the sanction of the local Government, from time to time, borrow on the security of the rates, taxes, and dues imposed and levied on account of the Municipal Fund, or a portion of them, and at such rate of interest and upon such terms as to the time of repayment and otherwise as the local Government may approve, any sums of money the Commissioners may require for the objects aforesaid."

"The Commissioners shall be bound to sell or lease such land in the manner aforesaid, or themselves to carry out such sanctioned scheme of improvement as is above described within the term of two years from the date of their purchase or lease of such land, unless the local Government shall specially extend such term. But it shall not be lawful for the Commissioners, without the special sanction of the local Government, to keep in their own possession any land purchased or leased by them under this section for more than five years from the date of the completion of its reclamation and improvement under the provisions of this section, or for more than seven years from the date of its purchase or lease by them."

Feb. 7th	20	12mo. ...	1st ...	2,000	Printed	0 2 0	Binodbihari Dās and Bāneswar Ghosh of Calcutta.	States that Vishnu is the God of the Kali Yuga under the name Satyandráyana , mentions some cases of poor men becoming rich by worshipping Satyanáráyana, and relates one or two stories with the view of showing that Satyanáráyana is a god who interferes actively in the affairs of men, and may not be offended or slighted with impunity. The worship of this god is very popular in Bengal.	949

" 18th	60	12mo. ...	Not given.	2,000	ditto ...	0 5 3	Rámkanáyi Dās of Jorásáuko, Calcutta.	An old metrical work expressive of the religious sentiments of a devout Baisnaba. The style faintly recalls that of the mediæval Baisnaba poets. Baisnabism as opposed to the idolatrous worship of the Sáktas of Bengal, or militant Baisnabism, is the creed of the author.	951
Nov. 25th	80	12mo. ...	1st ...	2,000	ditto ...	0 9 0	Jadunáth Datta, Calcutta.	An old metrical work describing the power and divinity of Manasá, the Hindu goddess of serpents. The well-known story of Behulá and Nakhindara is related in the old-fashioned style so popular with ill-educated and orthodox readers.	952
Oct. 9th	80	8vo. ...	1st ...	500	ditto ...	0 8 0	Girish Ohandra Sen, 6, College Square, Calcutta.	This part contains the memoirs of 14 Mahomedan saints, male and female, translated from a Persian work entitled Tajkhatoulouliá , which gives notices of 96 saints. These memoirs are full of moral and religious sayings inculcating godliness, purity of heart, dependence upon God, contempt for earthly things, disregard of physical evils, &c., &c. The translator, who has avowed his faith in the new dispensation of the Bráhma Samáj of India, says that Mahometanism has more points of agreement with Bráhmaism than any other religion.	953

Oct. 20th	82	8vo. ...	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	0 6 0	Shámlál Ahiritólá, Calcutta.	Discusses the origin of the Vedas and their chronology, describes their contents, and defines their relations to the subsequent Sanskrit literature. The author's treatment of his subject is of a very summary nature. He rejects the date assigned by Orientalists to the compilation of the Vedas, and seems inclined to carry that date some 30 or 40 thousand years backward.	955

" 13th	31	8vo. ...	1st ...	500	ditto ...	0 12 0	Pramatha Náth Basu, B.Sc., 4, Theatre Road, Calcutta.	The writer divides Indian history into five periods—the Rigvedic, the Bráhmánic, the Rationalistic, the Buddhist-Hindu, and the Hindu—and says that	121 with those five periods are connected important changes or developments in the history of Indian caste which are described at some length. He differs from those who hold that occupation is the determining principle of Indian caste, and says that the primary cause and chief regulator of that caste is the principle of race-superiority determined by conquest. This principle, says he, is still in operation in many parts of the world. The paper was originally read at the Bristol Museum and Library.

author condemns the prevailing system of teaching history, logic, metaphysics, and other subjects as a system in which morality and religion are entirely kept out of view. Assuming as his motto the Positivist doctrine that "the intellect is to be the servant of the heart, not its slave," the author advocates a system of education in which morality and religion will find a high place, and which should be entirely independent of Government agency. That agency, says he, should be only employed for the purposes of primary mass education.

Referring to certain criticisms of an adverse nature evoked by the first appearance of this work, the author says in the preface to this edition that it would be a mistake to regard this book in the light of a novel, it being in reality intended to be nothing better than a tale of ordinary domestic life. The author has, however, accepted some of the views of his critics and made suitable alterations in this edition. Belongs to the Mary Carpenter series.
